

Call for Applications: 2018 Postdoctoral Fellowships in Land and Agrarian Reform in Memory of Professor Sam Moyo

BACKGROUND

The National Institute for Humanities and Social Sciences (NIHSS) invites applications for post-doctoral fellowships in land and agrarian issues in honour of the late Professor Sam Moyo.

The land and agrarian questions remain unresolved across much of the African continent. Prof Sam Moyo was committed to their resolution as a scholar and an activist. His approach was characterised by an intrinsic link between scholarship and struggle. His penetrating analysis, premised on a careful and systematic collection of empirical evidence, have left a lasting legacy in our appreciation of the complexities involved in overcoming colonial dispossession in an era of global capitalism. Prof. Moyo was at the forefront of international endeavours to shift the locus of debates about land and agrarian questions from the North to the South by challenging the metropolitan monopoly over intellectual production. He was concerned about setting the scholarly record straight by opposing the deeply entrenched colonial presuppositions of African social realities. Moreover, he was committed to a fundamental re-orientation of global scholarship in order for the South to recover its voice and articulate its interests appropriately which remained the lifeblood of Prof Sam Moyo's scholarship until his untimely death in 2015.

This post-doctoral fellowship honours Prof. Sam Moyo's dedicated contribution by providing opportunities for his legacy in scholarship, policy advocacy and activism, institution building and networking to remain alive by drawing on his tradition of evidence-based research into land and agrarian questions.

SAM MOYO POSTDOCTORAL FELLOWSHIP

The National Institute for the Humanities and Social Sciences (NIHSS) invites applications from South African scholars to undertake postdoctoral research in Land and Agrarian Reform at South African higher education institutions. The fellowship will advance the development of scholars and scholarship in the area of Land and Agrarian Reform in South Africa and the continent by addressing the gaps in South-South focused land and agrarian policy and scholarship, while complementing teaching capacity on land and agrarian subject related areas. The programme will support full-time research from all humanities and social science disciplines addressing the following broad research areas:

- Land Reform
- Agrarian Change
- Land and Agrarian Social Movements
- Land and Agrarian Research Networks in the global south
- Land and the National Question
- Agricultural and Food Policy
- Food Security and poverty reduction

ELIGIBILITY

The Sam Moyo Land and Agrarian Reform postdoctoral fellowships will support South African scholars, who are not in full-time employment for the duration of the funding period.

Applicants will be researchers who have a PhD not older than 4 years in all areas of the humanities and social sciences as long as they address land and agrarian focussed research topics. Researchers will also be encouraged to explore the policy implications of their research findings.

Applicants should meet the following requirements:

- Relevant academic qualifications
- Coherence and feasibility of the proposed research project
- Contribution of the project to the body of knowledge in the field
- Publication/s in peer-reviewed journals
- Potential to enhance research activity in the host institution and department

VALUE OF THE AWARD

Successful applicants will receive funding for a period of one year valued at R300 000 per annum, but renewable for a further year depending on satisfactory academic progress and availability of funds. The successful applicants will be required to sign conditions of grant before the fellowship is released. The fellowship programme will be administered by the NIHSS and payment will occur in terms of standard NIHSS financial policies and procedures.
